WASHINGTON LETTER.

Wasidugten, D. C, Feb. 1, 1882.

The asaassin's trial is confed at last, and inv progno-tivations as to the re-salt have been fully verified. A feel-ing of universal sulfaction and con-gratulation pervaded the capitel witnessed many changes. An 'ad-ministration which had but just bu-gun its career, came to a half, passed through eighty days of pointal state pense, and then amid the scenes and ceremonies of monraing gave way to a new and different regime. During all this no gusts of passion were about to overthrow the diguity and equaaimity of the American people, and a government and order was maintained, while one President, made lolaw, succeeded another slain by the nasassin.

many respects one of the most re-markable in the annals of cr.minal proceedure. We have seen the low andly assassinator of the head of the Nathur sit in open court and no coursel and witnesses in outra, cour terms, and when, during the clesium cinquent forter 'a lying whelp," it seemed almost too mach for human nature to stand. But the verifict of the jury is consoling. The greatest travesty of the whole thing Is the time consumed in reaching justice. In what other contury would the assault of the chief ruler live a year-after duing the deed? There is now, however, no chance for Unitem to escape pulling hemp suoner or later, unto-s he dies from tright believe the time arrives. He stands not the slightest chance for a new trial or of any relief from the rearris.
